Du Bois, The Souls of Black Folks - Middlebury College

O water, voice of my heart, crying in the sand, All night long crying with a mournful cry, As I lie and listen, and cannot understand The voice of my heart in my side or the voice of the sea, two warring ideals in one dark body, whose dogged strength alone keeps it from being torn asunder The history of the American Negro is the history of

Do not go gentle into that good night Dylan Thomas

Though wise men at their end know dark is right, Because their words had forked no lightning they Do not go gentle into that good night Good men, the last wave by, crying how bright Their frail deeds might have danced in a green bay, Rage, rage against the dying of the light Wild men who caught and sang the sun in flight,

WATERSHIP DOWN by RICHARD ADAMS (1972)

"Fiver, you can't sit crying here Anyway, it's getting dark We'd better go back to the burrow" "Back to the burrow?" whimpered Fiver "It'll come there -- don't think it won't! I tell you, the field's full of blood--" "Now stop it," said Hazel firmly "Just let me look after you for a bit Whatever the trouble is, it's time we got back"
